Why this journey stands apart – A note from our CEO

The reason I return to Italy more than any other European country is its astounding regional diversity. But my first visit to the Dolomites in 2024 was mind-blowing for two reasons: its geographic and cultural blend of traits from Italy, Switzerland and Austria is so unique and interesting and its beauty had alluded me. The outcome is this new tour that is a must-visit, off the beaten track gem.

Discover a Story Worth Sharing

Portugal's historical contribution to world exploration and trade, courtesy of its maritime strength, is almost unrivalled. It is somewhat ironic that today, travel into Portugal to marvel at the spoils of its historical success and influence still evades many of us. So we are very pleased to showcase the highlights of what this country has to offer, which includes less visited Porto and Sintra, two of my personal favourite towns.
